

Saturday, Jan. 11, 2:00-3:00 EST	Posters. Emcee, Kelly Elizabeth Wright Gather: https://americandialect.org/posters-gather Abstracts
Poster 1	Joseph A. Stanley and Hallie Davidson	Variation in early 20th century rural Utah English
Poster 2	John Winstead	Frequency, polysemy, and word persistence in English
Poster 3	Aidan Malanoski, Bill Haddican, Kyle Gorman, Cynthia Gan, Jack Lacey, Jack Lynch, Andrew Shillingford, Samuel H. Sokol and Kujege Thiam	A whole new /iw/: The changing syllabification of yod
Poster 4	Kaitlin Young	Through the looking glass: Stop variation in the Linguistic Atlas Project
Poster 5	Rachel Steindel Burdin	NORTH of Boston: The NORTH/FORCE distinction among Jews in New Hampshire in the early 1900s
Poster 6	Jules Blank	Some spiders have three legs: Biographical influence on language variety
Poster 7	Jennifer Cramer	#heaintfromhere: Perceptions of what makes authentic Kentucky speech
Poster 8	Keiko Bridwell and Margaret Renwick	Variation in rootedness: Vowel systems across culturally differing North Georgia counties
Poster 9	Vincent N. Mariani	Is it giving Gen-Z? A survey on knowledge of LGBT+ slang across age groups
Poster 10	Ifeoluwaposimi John-Idiagbonya and Betsy Sneller	“If you think that was bad, then just listen to this...”: A case study of oral narrative development
Poster 11	Ian Schneider	Reading dialectological horoscopes: Negotiated literacies between students and ChatGPT in an undergraduate introductory linguistics course
Poster 12	Wil Rankinen	The pragmatic use of "eh" in Michigan's Upper Peninsula English